

The notes were counted out, and the young man's notes taken in exchange. The lender looked at the signer. And he had never heard the name on charge; but never mind; Rothschild would not have walked arm in arm with him as he did, if he had not been perfectly good. So with many assurances of distinguished regard, the two parted. A few steps further, the young adventurer met another of his new acquaintances, and while halting with him he carelessly displayed the bank notes he had just received; and observing that he had a large amount to make up for a certain great opportunity, and not wishing for private reasons to apply to his good friend, the baron, he would feel obliged if he could lend him £10,000.

The latter actuated by such motives as the other money-lender, counted out the desired amount, and took the unknown name in exchange. And so the young man went borrowing from each of his new friends until he had accumulated a hundred thousand pounds. All this he deposited with Rothschild, reserving only the £2,000 which he originally desired. The next day there was a great flutter among the rich men on 'Change, and many were the conjectures then made as they compared notes about the banking house of Rothschild, they would be paid. One who had a note of £25,000 went there out of curiosity, as he said—when lo! it was cashed. The news spread like wildfire. All came with notes, and all as soon as presented, were paid; and upon this affair Mr. C.—established a credit of C—& Co., whose credit at the present day in England is almost equal to that of the great Rothschild himself, to whose affability its founder owes his fortune and success.

"It is perfectly evident to me," said Socrates in his last moments, "that, to see clearly, we must detach ourselves from the body, and perceive by the soul alone. Not while we live, but when we die will that wisdom to which we desire and love be first revealed to us; it must be then, or never, that we shall attain to true understanding and knowledge, since by means of the body we never can. But if during life we would make the nearest approaches possible to its possession it must be by divorcing ourselves as much as in us lies from the flesh and its nature."

MR. BUCHANAN'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

We give below such portions of it as our room will allow.

Fellow Citizens: I appear before you this day to take the solemn oath that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States. In entering upon this great office, I most humbly invoke the God of our fathers for wisdom and firmness to execute its high and responsible duties in such a manner as to restore harmony and the ancient friendship among the people of the several States, and to preserve our free institutions throughout many generations. Convinced that I owe my election to the inherent love for the constitution and the Union which still animates the hearts of the American people, let me earnestly ask their powerful support in sustaining all just measures calculated to perpetuate these and the richest political blessings which Heaven has ever bestowed upon any nation. Having determined not to become a candidate for re-election, I shall have no motive to influence my conduct in administering the government, except the desire to be faithful to serve my country, and to live in the grateful memory of my countrymen.

We have recently passed through a Presidential contest in which the passions of our fellow-citizens were excited to the highest degree by questions of deep and vital importance; but when the deep and vital importance of the question of domestic slavery in the Territories, Congress is neither to legislate slave into a State, nor to exclude it therefrom, but to leave the people there perfectly free to form and regulate their domestic institutions in their own way, subject only to the constitution of the United States. As a natural consequence, Congress has also prescribed that when the Territory of Kansas shall be admitted as a State, it shall be received into the Union with or without slavery, as their constitution may prescribe at the time of their admission. A different opinion has arisen in regard to the time when the people of a Territory shall decide this question for themselves. This is happily a matter of but little practical importance, and, besides, it is a judicial question which legitimately belongs to the Supreme Court of the United States, before whom it is now pending, and will, it is understood, be speedily and finally settled. To their decision, in common with all good citizens, I shall cheerfully submit, whatever this may be, though it has been my individual opinion that under the Kansas Nebraska act that the appropriate period will be when the number of actual residents in the Territory shall justify the formation of a constitution with a view to the admission as a State into the Union. But be this as it may, it is the imperative and indispensable duty of the government of the United States to secure to every resident inhabitant the free and independent expression of his opinion by his vote.

This sacred right of each individual must be preserved. This being accomplished, nothing can be fairer than to leave the people of a Territory free from all foreign interference to decide their constitution. The whole territory question being thus settled upon the principle of popular sovereignty, a principle as ancient as free government itself, everything of a practical nature has been decided, and no other question remains for adjustment, because all agree that under the constitution, slavery in the States is beyond the reach of any human power except that of the respective States themselves wherein it exists. May we not then hope that the long agitation of this subject is approaching its end, and that the geographical parties which it has given birth to, so much dreaded by the Father of his Country, will speedily become extinct? Most happy will it be for the country when the public mind shall be diverted from this question to others of more pressing and practical importance. Throughout the whole progress of this agitation, which has scarcely known any intermission for more than twenty years, what it has been productive of no justive mind to any human being, it has been the prolific source of great evils to the master, to the slave, and to the whole country. It has alienated and estranged the people of the sister States from each other, and has even seriously endangered the very existence of the Union. Not has the danger yet entirely ceased.

Under our system there is no remedy for all mere political evils in the sound sense and sober judgment of the people. Time is a great corrective. The political subjects which a few years ago excited and exasperated the public mind have passed away and are nearly forgotten but this question of domestic slavery is of far greater importance than any mere political question, because should the agitation continue it may eventually endanger the personal safety of a large portion of our community where the institution exists. In that event no form of Government, however admirable in itself, can compensate for the loss of peace and domestic security around the family altar. Let every union loving man therefore, exert all his influence to suppress this agitation, which since the recent legislation of Congress is without any legitimate object. It is an evil of the times that men have undertaken to calculate the mere material value of the Union. Reasoned estimates have been presented of the pecuniary profits and local advantages which would result to different States and sections from the dissolution of the Union, comparative injuries which such an event would inflict on other States and sections. Even depending to this low and narrow view of the weighty question all such calculations are at fault.

The bare reference to a single consideration will be conclusive on this point. We at present enjoy a free trade throughout our extensive and expansive country such as the world had never witnessed. This trade is conducted on railroads and canals, on noble rivers and arms of the sea which bind together the North and the South, the East and the West of our confederacy. Annihilate this trade, arrest its free progress by the geographical lines of jealous and hostile States, and you destroy the prosperity and onward march of the whole and every part, and involve all in one common ruin.

But such considerations, as important as they are in themselves, sink into insignificance when we reflect on the terrible end, which would result from division to every portion of the confederacy, to the North not more than to the South, to the East not more than to the West. These I shall not attempt to portray because I feel an humble confidence that the kind Providence which inspired our fathers with wisdom to frame the most perfect form of government and union ever devised by man, will not suffer to perish until it shall have been peacefully instrumental to its example in the extension of religious liberty throughout the world.

THE INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT BUCHANAN.—Washington, March 4.—The inaugural procession started for the Capitol at noon. It was very long, and presented a magnificent appearance.

The military of the District and country in general were fully represented. Messrs. Buchanan and Breckinridge rode in an open carriage, surrounded by the Keystone Club, preceded by the military.

A lady, representing the Goddess of Liberty mounted on a high platform, drawn by six horses, followed; after which came a miniature ship-of-war, made by the mechanics of the Navy Yard, and several clubs and engine companies.

Mr. Buchanan reached the Capitol at 1 o'clock, where a tremendous crowd was waiting his arrival. He was received with enthusiastic cheers.

Mr. Buchanan proceeded immediately to the Senate Chamber, where the oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Taney. He afterwards emerged from the Chamber and proceeded to the Eastern Portico of the Capitol, where a temporary stage was erected, and in the presence of many thousands, he proceeded to deliver his Inaugural Address.

THE TEA TRADE.—The tea market has been in somewhat of an excited state since the receipt of the news of the troubles at Canton, but those best acquainted with the Chinese people apprehend no great interruption of trade, although some change in the manner of carrying it on may grow out of the matter.

Nearly all the tea exported from China is consumed in the English dominions, the United States and Russia. Other nations take only inconsiderable quantities.

France with her thirty-five millions of people only consumes about one twenty-fifth part as much as the United States with 27 millions, and Germany with 70 millions uses only about as much as France. The great quantity of beer used in the last named country and of light wines in the former take the place of tea.

The following figures show the average quantity annually exported from China for several years past:

Great Britain and Ireland,	8,000,000 lbs.
B. America and West Indies	2,600,000
Australia, C. Good Hope, &c.	2,700,000
British India,	2,200,000
United States,	15,000,000
Russia,	6,000,000
Holland and colonies,	1,200,000
France,	550,000
Germany,	500,000
South America,	650,000
Denmark, Sweden & Norway,	250,000
Belgium,	200,000
Spain and Portugal,	100,000

DEATH OF THE ORIGINAL UNCLE TOM.

The Indianapolis Journal mentions the death in that city, on Sunday last, of Thomas Magruder, an old negro, aged about 110 years. He is supposed to have been the one who suggested the name and the leading features of the character in Mrs. Stowe's novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." This supposition is based on the coincidence of name and character, and on the fact, says the Journal, "that Henry Ward Beecher, during his residence here, was a constant visitor of 'Uncle Tom's,' well acquainted with his history, and a sincere admirer of his virtues. We have been told that Mrs. Stowe herself sometime called to see the old man, 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' too, was the name of his house among all his acquaintances, and was a familiar phrase here long before Mrs. Stowe immortalized it. At all events, we know that it is the impression with all the friends of Mrs. Stowe and her brother in this city, that 'Old Uncle Tom,' was the original, or at least the suggestion, of the hero of the 'Cabin.'"

MARINE LOSSES FOR FEBRUARY.—The whole number of American vessels lost during the month was 44; 5 ships, 5 barques, 14 brigs and 20 schooners. The total estimated value of vessels and cargoes $1,060,700 of which $437,500 was valued on the vessels, $423,200 ascertained values of cargoes, and $200,000 estimated for value unknown.—N. B. Standard.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT TO THE MEMORY OF DR. KANE.—Resolutions have been unanimously adopted by both branches of the New York city government, appointing five members of each body to proceed to Philadelphia to attend the funeral of the late Dr. Kane; directing that the city bells shall be tolled on the day of the funeral, at morning, noon, and sunset; that the flags on the City Hall shall be hoisted at half-mast, during the day, and that copies of the resolutions be forwarded to the family of the deceased, and to the Mayor of Philadelphia.

NEW NAVAL YARD.—According to an act of Congress, Blithe Island, Brunswick, Georgia, has been selected for a new naval station. A board of officers has been appointed to make the necessary surveys, in order to have the yard located in the proper place. The following officers compose this board—Capt. James M. Melmoth; Commander H. J. Hartstein; Lieutenant J. A. Brooke, and Civil Engineer Calvin Browne.

HARRISBURG, March 2.—On the 24th ballot for democratic candidate for Governor, Packer received a majority of 3 votes, and subsequently his nomination was made unanimous. This is Hon. Asa Packer, late member of Congress.

LOG ROLLING EXTRAORDINARY.—Last week a pine log weighing four tons, was drawn from Bethlehem, N. H., to Littleton depot, from whence it was forwarded to Gilford.

Charles Siders, Esq., has been appointed Postmaster at Hingham in opposition to the general desire which was that Miss Gardner should fill the position made vacant by her father's death.

HARMON—A SOLDIER.

BY RICHARD CHENEY THORNTON.

Now the third and fatal conflict for the Persian throne was done.

And the Moslem's fiery valor had the crowning victory won.

Harmon, the last and noblest the invader to defy.

Captive overcome by numbers, they were bringing forth to die.

Then exclaimed that noble captive: "To perish in my thirst;

Give me but one drink of water, and let then arrive the worst!"

In his hand he took the goblet, but awhile the drought forbore.

Seemingly doubtfully the purpose of the foreman to explore.

Well might then have paused the bravest—

For around him angry foes

With a hedge of naked weapons did that lone man inclose.

"But what fear'st thou?" cried the Caliph;

"Is it, friend, a secret blow?

Fear it not—our gallant Moslem no such treacherous dealing know.

"Thou must quench thy thirst securely, for thou shalt not die before

Thou hast drunk that cup of water—this reprieve is thine—no more!"

Quick the Satrap dashed the goblet down to earth with ready hand,

And the liquid sank forever, lost amid the burning sand.

"Thou hast said that mine my life is, till the water of that cup

I have drained; then bid thy servants that spilled water gather up!"

For a moment stood the Caliph as by doubtful passions stirred—

Then exclaimed: "Forever sacred must remain a monarch's word.

"Bring another cup, and straightway to the noble Persian give;

Drink, I said before, and perish—now I bid thee drink and live!"

HIGH PRICES FOR MEN AND WOMEN.

The Marlboro' (Md.) Advocate records the following sale which took place last week in Prince George County:

"Daniel C. Digges, Esq., as attorney for Henry S. Mitchell, Esq., disposed of several slaves on Monday. One was sold at public sale, a man, who was bought by William C. Beall, Esq., for $900. A family consisting of a woman and four children, two boys and two girls, were bought by George W. Graham, Esq., at private sale, at $3125. A slave man was sold at the same time. He was purchased by George W. Wilson, Esq., for $950.

WORTH KNOWING.—It is said that a small piece of resin dropped into the water, which is placed in a vessel on the stove, will add a peculiar property to the atmosphere of the room, which will give relief to persons troubled with coughs. The heat of the water is sufficient to throw off the aroma of the resin. It is preferable to combustion, because evaporation is more durable.

The Morning Star, the vessel so well known throughout the land, was spoken on the 13th of January in lat. 8 South, 34 West, then 34 days out from Boston, bound to the Sandwich Islands.

A CARD TO THE LADIES.

Dr. DEYON'S Golden Periodical Pills for Females. Perfectly harmless, yet wonderfully and powerfully efficacious in correcting, regulating, and removing all obstructions from whatever cause.

All medical men know, as well as many others, that no female can enjoy good health, unless she is regular, and whenever an obstruction takes place, whether from exposure, cold, or any other cause, the general health begins immediately to decline, and the want of such a remedy has been the cause of so many consumptions among young females. Headache, Pain in the Side, Palpitation of the Heart, Loathing of Food, and Disturbed Sleep, do most always arise from the interruption of nature; and whenever that is the case, the Pills will invariably remedy all these evils; and may always be used successfully as a preventive. Price $1.00 per box. For sale by HAZARD & CASWELL, 12 Washington Square, and 137 Thames St. They will supply the trade at manufacturer's prices. Ladies, by enclosing $1.00 to STURGIS & CO., Box 23 Newport Post Office, can have the Pills sent (confidentially) by mail to any part of the city or country.

FOR SALE—A new Cottage; apply to HENRY GLADHING, No. 24 Third-st.

LOTTERIES—The well known Maryland Consolidated Lottery of which F. & C. are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a free right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, and lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day in the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1.00 to $25.00. No tickets, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Tertiary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $25 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over. Address: F. & C. HUBBARD & Co., No. 30 FAYETTE-st., or Box No. 40, Baltimore Maryland.
